AN ACCOUNT
OF
THE LOCK HOSPITAL,
IN
NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE,
FROM
NOVEMBER THE ELEVENTH, 1814,

AUGUST THE ELEVENTH, 1816.

THE committee of management for the Lock Hospital in Newcastle upon Tyne, has the honour to lay before those by whose approbation and liberality the institution has hitherto been supported, the following General Statement of its proceedings during the twenty-one months ending August 11th, 1816.

The amount of monies due to the Lock Hospital cannot be ascertained, as several gentlemen have not yet named the sum of their intended donations; but the Committee of Management think it highly probable, that, together with the small balance in the treasurer's hand, such donations will not be more than sufficient to discharge the demands outstanding against the institution.

As the Lock Hospital appears to the Committee of Management to afford the most proper place of cure for various cases of disease, peculiarly severe and distressing, and which the medical gentlemen of the Infirmary could, with difficulty, prevail on themselves to reject from admission into that most benevolent institution;—as the Lock Hospital may, therefore, effect no inconsiderable diminution in the annual expence of the Infirmary;—and above all, as it tends to separate as much as possible, from the less virtuous members of society, those females who are fit objects, from their becoming conduct and respectability of character, to be admitted into the Infirmary, the Committee of Management recommend, upon the most mature consideration, the Lock Hospital, as an establishment which should receive the countenance of the public, and be regularly provided for by an annual subscription.

Subscriptions will be received by the treasurer, William Loraine, Esq.

The following Gentlemen, together with the Surgeons, the Treasurer, and the Chaplain to the Institution, form the
